Students Participate in Summer Internship Program

Ten high school and college students worked six weeks at the Jackson-Evers International Airport and Hawkins Field Airport participating in a summer youth internship program

The program, in its second year, aims to educate Jackson metro-area students about how to interact and collaborate successfully with others in the workplace, while learning about airport transportation.

During the student's busy six-week schedule, they gained valuable knowledge and experience about the day-to-day operation of the airport, including working with public safety, airfield and building maintenance, disadvantaged business enterprise, customer service, finance, capital programming, and human resources and administration.
